WELCOME TO BILL

For the joy of learning, a group of inspired Berkshire County residents formed Berkshire Institute for Lifetime Learning (BILL) in 1994. As a nonprofit, volunteer-run organization, BILL continuously provides stimulating and exciting adult learning experiences for its members. This is your opportunity to learn about things that you have never had time for in the past.

◆ Choose from among 50-plus (noncredit) courses in the Arts, Sciences, Literature and Social Sciences offered in fall, winter and spring semesters.

◆ Attend lectures and panel discussions highlighting contemporary, often provocative themes.

◆ Experience history and culture through trips and events.

SHARE YOUR INTERESTS WITH OTHERS.

THE SPORTS PAGES

This discussion course encourages all “sports nuts” to express their opinions. Who will win the Super Bowl? Is March Madness real? Does soccer have a future in the U.S.? What will be on the front burner of the Hot Stove League as we await spring training? How popular are fantasy sports? We will answer and discuss these and other sports questions.

Moderators: Michael Margolin is a retired neurologist; Howard Arkans is a retired pediatrician. They both have long histories as “sports nuts” from Brooklyn to Philly to Oakland to the Berkshires. They have coached Little League baseball and soccer together and played on the last place Boys of Summer Men’s Softball Team. They have argued the merits of Duke Snyder, Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Richie Ashburn and more.

Suggested Reading: Mike Greenberg, Why My Wife Thinks I’m an Idiot: The Life and Times of a Sportscaster Dad

INTERPRETING LITERATURE: Can We Get It Right?

Concentrating on the question of validity in interpretation, we will read selected works of Flaubert, Ibsen, Blake, Keats and Shakespeare. Participants should be prepared to engage in a seminar-like discussion of various interpretations and/or ways of looking at specific texts. REGISTRATION IS LIMITED TO 15.

Suggested Reading: Gustave Flaubert’s short story “A Simple Heart” should be read for the first session. Henrik Ibsen’s The Wild Duck and William Blake’s Songs of Innocence and Experience will be read in following sessions. Other texts to be used may include the poetry of John Keats and William Shakespeare’s Othello.
SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA: A Cultural and Historical Perspective
T103

This course is a survey of precolonial, colonial and postcolonial sub-Saharan Africa. It will include an emphasis on the culture and arts of this region together with a special focus on the country of Nigeria.

Emmanuel Dongala, Doctorat-es-Sciences, Université des Sciences et Techniques, Montpellier, France; Doctorat de Specialité, Université Louis Pasteur, Strasbourg, France; M.S., Rutgers University; Richard B. Fisher Chair in Natural Sciences, Simon’s Rock College of Bard; formerly professor of Chemistry and Dean of Academic Affairs at the University of Brazzaville, Congo; writer of fiction and recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship.

William Vogt, A.B., Georgetown University; former managing director of J.P. Morgan Chase & Co.; held corporate finance positions in New York, Tokyo and Hong Kong; lived in Nigeria for three years and worked for the country’s largest merchant bank; instructor of several courses for BILL; Chairman of the Board of Hancock Shaker Village; Trustee of Becket-Chimney Corners YMCA Camps; Trustee of Camphill Village USA, Copake, NY.

OLD HICKORY: Andrew Jackson
T104

The most important President of the first half of the 19th century was Andrew Jackson (1767-1845). He was also a significant figure in American history before attaining the presidency, but few today are aware of these earlier phases of his life. Most biographies of Jackson focus on his presidency to the exclusion of his earlier life, but it is difficult to understand Jackson’s motivations and actions as President without an understanding of this earlier period.

This course will concentrate on five phases or aspects of Jackson’s life: first 38 years; life as a frontier lawyer and politician and as the most famous military commander in the Southwest (1805-1821); running for president (1821-1828); the people’s president (1829-1837); and personal character and legacy.

Walker F. Todd, Ph.D. in French; J.D. Boston University Law School; Attorney and Visiting Fellow at American Institute for Economic Research, Great Barrington; adjunct faculty at Cleveland-Marshall College of Law; instructor at Chautauqua Institution; former officer of the Federal Reserve Banks of New York and Cleveland.

Suggested Reading: H.W. Brands, Andrew Jackson: His Life and Times (2005)

SOUTH OF THE BORDER
W101

In this course, we will review the recent events in Mexico, Cuba and Venezuela and discuss their political significance.

James Mahon, Ph.D., University of California, Berkeley; Woodrow Wilson Professor of Political Science, Williams College; Visiting Professor, Center for International and Development Education (CIDE), Mexico City, Spring 2003.

Suggested Reading: Current History magazine, Latin America issue (usually published February or March every year); other articles to be announced.
ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE: Image and Reality
W102

Over 50 years ago, scientists began to envision a world in which computers and humans could converse. In 1956 the field of “Artificial Intelligence” was officially born, and the work on “AI” began in earnest. Sophisticated walking and talking robots are still the stuff of science fiction, but AI is close to making them a reality. In exploring the field of Artificial Intelligence, we will consider questions such as: What qualities must a machine have before we are willing to call it intelligent? To what extent should machine intelligence mirror human intelligence? What are appropriate ethics for intelligent machines? Among the systems we will touch on are mobile robots, game-playing systems, systems that learn from their environments and systems that create plans for complex tasks. This course will include some “hands-on” work with simple vehicular robots.

REGISTRATION IS LIMITED TO 30.

Andrea Danyluk, Ph.D. in Computer Science, Columbia University; Chair and Professor, Department of Computer Science, Williams College; co-authored Java: An Eventful Approach (2006); recipient of two National Science Foundation grants.

Suggested Reading: Isaac Asimov, I Robot (a science fiction viewpoint); additional readings will be distributed in class.

WEDNESDAY SPRING 2007

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF SOLITUDE

| Wednesdays | 2:00 – 3:30 | Williams College | Stetson Hall D27 | April 18, 25 | May 2, 9, 16 | Five sessions |

In a close analysis of this classic novel, participants will examine the use of magic, issues of social conflict, American imperialism, humor and family life. Four or five chapters will be discussed at each session.

Gene H. Bell-Villada, Ph.D., Harvard University; Professor of Romance Languages, Williams College; author of many publications encompassing various genres of writing, including literary essays, criticism, political polemic, satires, short stories and novels. He received a Best Book Award for García Márquez: The Man and His Work (1990). His book, Art for Art’s Sake and Literary Life: How Politics and Markets Helped Shape the Ideology and Culture of Aesthetics, 1790-1990, was a 1997 National Book Critics Circle Award finalist.

REGISTRATION IS LIMITED TO 20.

Suggested Reading: García Márquez, One Hundred Years of Solitude; Gene H. Bell-Vallada, García Márquez: The Man and His Work

SCIENCE AND GOD: The Many Relationships of Science to Religion

| Wednesdays | 3:00 – 4:30 | Williams College | Thompson Physics Lab | TPL 205 | April 18, 25 | May 2, 16, 23 | Five sessions | (No class May 9) |

Science and God? Science or God? Many today find a disconnect between science and religion. The news media favor the extremists on either side of the Intelligent Design debate who seem to agree on one thing: that you can have science or religion but not both. But is belief in a higher power that creates, sustains and gives meaning to our lives incompatible with scientific descriptions of the natural world? We will address that question by exploring the origins and evolution of Western science and religion. The trial of Galileo Galilei and the current Intelligent Design debate will serve as bookends to the story of the relationship between science and religion. Science has moved from an organismic description of nature to a reductionistic description, and now it is necessary to understand these as complementary descriptions. We will explore the question of whether science and religion may also be complementary descriptions of the human condition.

Stuart B. Crampton, Barclay Jermain Professor of Natural Philosophy, Emeritus, Williams College; Co-Director of the North Berkshire Center for Religion and Science.

THURSDAY SPRING 2007

TODAY’S HEADLINES

| Thursdays | 10:30 – 12:00 | BCC | Susan B. Anthony Center | General Bartlett Room | April 19, 26 | May 3, 10, 17, 24 | Six sessions |

The centerpiece of this course is lively discussion. Here is your opportunity to voice strong opinions about current events. The moderator serves as guide and provocateur. Topics, which are drawn from magazines, and local and international newspapers, will be explored together.

AMAZING SURVIVAL STORIES

APRIL 19 • The Nazi Officer’s Wife: How One Jewish Woman Survived the Holocaust by Edith Hahn Beer in collaboration with Susan Dworkin is the story of Edith’s life as a “U-boat,” a Jew hiding in plain sight in Nazi Germany throughout the war. A motion picture based on the book will begin filming in Europe this spring.

Susan Dworkin, author of 14 published books; former editor of Ms. Magazine and Moment magazine; has written numerous articles; has taught writing courses for BILL.

APRIL 26 • A Rescuer’s Story: Pastor Pierre-Charles Toureille in Vichy France by Tela Zasloff is the story of Holocaust rescuer, Pierre Toureille, a French Protestant pastor whose efforts resulted in the saving of hundreds of refugees, most of them Jews, from the Nazis in Vichy France in WWII.

Tela Zasloff, Ph.D in Rhetoric; English professor; editor and author of several books.

MAY 3 • Long Way Back to the River Kwai by Loet Velmans is the story of one man’s survival of the brutal slave-labor conditions that inspired the classic film Bridge Over the River Kwai. It depicts the experiences of a Japanese P.O.W. who finally escapes from the Nazis in 1940.

Loet Velmans, studied English and Sociology at the University of Amsterdam; retired chairman, president and CEO of Hill and Knowlton, Inc.; has published numerous articles in professional magazines.

MAY 10 • Edith’s Story by Edith Velmans is based on an account of a young girl’s courage and survival during the infamous Nazi occupation of Holland. The story is told through her diaries and letters to and from her family. The book has been published in nine languages and has won two literature prizes.

Edith Velmans, M.Ed., Teachers College, Columbia University; Director of the Second Career Program of the Mayor’s (NY) Voluntary Action Center; knighted by Queen Beatrix of Holland.

MAY 17 • Before the Silver Cord is Snapped: Looking Back on my Journey by Peter Cukor chronicles the brutal circumstances of his early years: Nazi persecution, ghetto, deportation, work camps, living under a Communist dictatorship and his ensuing immigrant adventures in America.

Peter Cukor, Ph.D. in Chemistry, St. John’s University; Adjunct Associate Professor, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University; Adjunct Associate Professor, Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

MAY 24 • Strange Haven: A Jewish Childhood in Wartime Shanghai by Sigmund Tobias describes his family’s escape from the Holocaust in Germany and their subsequent hardships in a Japanese controlled ghetto in Shanghai. Two documentary films were made about the book.

Sigmund Tobias, Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, Columbia University; faculty, City College of New York; Distinguished Research Scientist, Institute for Urban and Minority Education, Teachers College, Columbia University.

AMERICAN THEOCRACY

This seminar is based on Kevin Phillips’ book American Theocracy. Kevin Phillips is an American writer and commentator largely on politics, economics and history. We will consider and discuss Phillips’ thesis that a “reckless dependency on shrinking oil supplies, a milieu of radicalized (and much too influential) religion, and a reliance on borrowed money . . . now constitute the three major perils to the United States in the twenty-first century.” Participants should read the book and several class members should be prepared to do a class presentation on part of the book.

REGISTRATION IS LIMITED TO 20.

Patricia Gazouleas, ABD, University of New York at Stony Brook; Adjunct Professor of Anthropology, Dowling College, Oakdale, NY.

WINE APPRECIATION IV

Continue to experience the world of wine with this Wine Appreciation IV course developed by Dr. Jack Rubin. Participants will meet at the new Spice restaurant in Pittsfield. In addition to the normal registration fee, there is a $40 surcharge for this course. On the Registration Form under “Payment Details,” be sure to include this $40 surcharge. REGISTRATION IS LIMITED TO 30.

A specially priced dinner will be offered at 6 p.m. at Spice following most sessions beginning on April 26 (second session). Guests of participants may join them for dinner. Call 413.443.1234 to make a reservation with Dana and staff. Chin! Chin!

Registrants of this course will be given preference for attending the Gala Wine Banquet at Spice which will take place shortly after the conclusion of the course. Information about the banquet will be available at a later date.

- Wines of Austria with Steve Dixon, formerly with Wheatleigh in Lenox; Representative, M.S. Walker Company; BILL speaker in all previous wine courses.

- Wines of New Zealand with Ben Glick, M.D., University of Southern California Medical School; pathologist, North Adams Regional Hospital; BILL speaker in all previous wine courses.

- The Pinot Noir Grape: From Burgandy to Bubbly with Danny May, B.A. in Economics, University of Massachusetts; currently at Guido’s; writes a wine column for Berkshire HomeStyle magazine.

- Very Special Sicilian Wines with Pietro Cavello, U.S. Manager, Tenuta Di Donnafugata; native of Bari, Italy.

- Navigating a Restaurant Wine List with Patrick Spencer, owner, Brix Wine Bar, Pittsfield.

- Wines and Terroir of Argentina with Jack Rubin, D.D.S., University of Pennsylvania Dental School; lecturer in the U.S. and Mexico on wine, film and dentistry; Les Amis du Vin.

Surprise Bonus Session

INSIDE MUSIC: For Your Listening Pleasure  F101

Explore the inner workings of music to maximize your enjoyment! Learn about musical periods, terminology, notation and theory.

APRIL 20 & 27 • Great Periods in Music History
From Early Music, Renaissance, Baroque, Classical and Romantic music to music of the 20th Century; learn how these musical periods parallel or were influenced by the literature and world history of their times.

MAY 4 • Roots of Music: The History of Notation
When did the lines of the musical staff increase from four to five? What are shape notes? What do all those music notation signs mean and why are there so many? And more...

MAY 11 • The KEY to Understanding Music
An examination of the meaning of the term “key.” Do keys portray different emotions? Why do certain composers prefer specific keys? What is the significance of major versus minor keys?

MAY 18 • Everything You Wanted to Know About Music Theory But Were Afraid to Ask
“What IS a German 6th?”

MAY 25 • How to Listen, What to Listen For and What to Watch For in a Concert
Suggestions to maximize your pleasure in attending a concert and listening to the music.

These sessions will be taught by members of the Berkshire Music School Faculty and will include:

- Tracy Wilson, Executive Director of the BMS; conductor of the Stockbridge Festival Chorus; previously on the staff of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

- Sharon Powers, Flute Instructor at BMS; teacher and performer in the U.S. and abroad; active member of the New York Flute Society.

- Alice Spatz, Instructor of Theory, Composition and Double Bass at BMS; award winning composer; active performer with “Wintergreen” folk music group.

EGYPTIAN AND MEDITERRANEAN SHIPS  F102

Ships and boats from Egypt, Greece and the Greek Islands, Rome and Phoenicia will be studied from circa 1600 B.C. to the early Christian era. The class will compare and contrast purposes, shapes, structure and cross-borrowings, if any. The material for this course will come from ancient paintings, reliefs, ancient ship models, actual ships’ ruins or working reconstructions.

Lenore O. Keene Congdon, Ph.D., Harvard University; has taught at Williams College and Berkshire Community College; has taught numerous courses on Egypt for BILL.
DREAMS AND HEALING: From Mesopotamia to the Present  F103

This class will review conceptions of dreams from Ancient Babylon to the present and examine their relationships to thinking, to political power, to misfortune as well as to illness and healing.

Benjamin Kilborne, Ph.D., Southern California Psychoanalytic Institute; Ph.D., Sorbonne Université Paris V and Ecole Pratique des Hautes Etudes (Anthropology/Ethnopsyhiatry); M.F.A., Columbia University; B.A., Yale University; Visiting Professor, University of Moscow, Institute of Practical Psychology; received numerous honors; held teaching positions at the University of California and the Sorbonne; lectured throughout Europe and is widely published.
